Happy Spring Everyone!!!!!!!!!!

Some trees with potential

Ah spring time in the Rockies. The trees are alive with buds and there are trees to be harvested. Hopefully everyone had a great winter and past couple of months. I unfortunately lost one of my trees this year, bad placement in the yard and it didn't get enough water. I learned a valuable lesson with the placement of that tree. I hope everyone else had a better winter than I did.

On a different topic it is half way through the Yamadori season. I hope everyone has at least been looking in the wilderness. I happened on a beautiful looking tree while hiking last week it had great potential but it happens to be on private land. Every one needs to abide by the rules no matter what. Get your mountain gear and your permits together and be safe.

There have been a couple of meetings since the last newsletter, for that I do apologize. We had a great pot making class (pictures coming soon). A great talk about Yamadori with some great safety tips. At the last meeting people brought in some of their bonsai trees. Some which needed to be trimmed and styled others were there just for show.

The next show is on May 14 at Bill Fox's house at 10:00. We will have a demo/workshop for a price of $20-25. There will be an assortment of trees to choose from. The more experienced club members will be helping where needed. For directions call Bill Fox at 540-3708.
